Adding a Domestic Partner

You may add a domestic partner to certain benefit plans if your domestic partner meets the plans' criteria. If you add a domestic partner, you may need to review and compare the benefit plans that are available to you. On this page, you will find information about benefits coverage and election changes that may be helpful to you, as an active eligible US employee.

Marsh & McLennan Companies (Company) voluntarily makes coverage available to domestic partners consistent with the treatment of federally recognized spouses to the extent permitted by law. Note though, domestic partners are not treated as federally recognized spouses under the Internal Revenue Code.

About the Life Event

Adding a domestic partner to certain benefits coverage is permitted upon employment or during the Annual Enrollment period for coverage effective the following January 1st if you satisfy the plans' criteria, or immediately upon satisfying the plans' criteria if you previously did not qualify. To obtain spousal or domestic partner coverage, you will need to complete an Affidavit of Eligible Family Membership via PeopleLink (www.mmcpeoplelink.com), declaring:

Spouse / Domestic Partner

- You have already received a marriage license from a US state or local authority, or registered your domestic partnership with a US state or local authority.

Spouse Only

- Although not registered with a US state or local authority, your relationship constitutes a marriage under US state or local law (e.g. common law marriage or a marriage outside the US that is honored under US state or local law).

Domestic Partner Only

- Although not registered with a US state or local authority, your relationship constitutes an eligible domestic partnership. To establish that your relationship constitutes an eligible domestic partnership you and your domestic partner must:
 - be at least 18 years old

- not be legally married, under federal law, to each other or anyone else or part of another domestic partnership during the previous 12 months
 - currently be in an exclusive, committed relationship with each other that has existed for at least 12 months and is intended to be permanent
 - currently reside together, and have resided together for at least the previous 12 months, and intend to do so permanently
 - have agreed to share responsibility for each other's common welfare and basic financial obligations
 - not be related by blood to a degree of closeness that would prohibit marriage under applicable state law.
- Marsh & McLennan Companies reserves the right to require documentary proof of your domestic partnership or marriage at any time, for the purpose of determining benefits eligibility. If requested, you must provide documents verifying the registration of your domestic partnership with a state or local authority, your cohabitation and/or mutual commitment, or a marriage license that has been approved by a state or local government authority.

Once your Affidavit of Eligible Family Membership is completed and processed, you may cover the dependent child(ren) of your spouse or domestic partner.

Complete your affidavit, via PeopleLink (www.mmcpeoplelink.com). Select the Health tab and under Medical Plans, click the applicable medical plan. Then go to Take Action in the right navigation bar and select Enroll, view, change benefits.

Impact on Benefits

Your contribution to cover a domestic partner and the dependent child or children of a domestic partner is the same as the cost to cover other eligible family members. However, because of IRS requirements, these contributions will be made on an after-tax basis unless your domestic partner is your tax dependent under IRC Section 152 (i.e., you provide more than half of your domestic partner's support). Additionally, the difference between the cost of coverage and your contributions will be imputed as taxable income to you.

If your partner qualifies as your dependent under IRC Section 152, your contributions for domestic partner coverage for your partner and his or her children will be on a before-tax basis, and the cost of their coverage would not be imputed as taxable income to you.

You should review your beneficiary designations for all your benefit plans.

Note: Domestic partners are not treated as spouses under the tax law or for purposes of the 401(k) Savings & Investment Plan, Mercer HR Services Retirement Plan or the US Retirement Program. However, the US Retirement Program does provide survivor benefits to qualified domestic partners. See "In Case of Your Death" in the Benefit

Equalization Plan and Supplemental Retirement Plan sections of the Benefits Handbook for specific domestic partner plan details.

Making Changes to Benefits

To cover your domestic partner, you will need to complete an Affidavit of Eligible Family Membership. Once your Affidavit of Eligible Family Membership is completed and processed, you may cover the dependent child(ren) of your spouse or domestic partner.

You will then have 30 calendar days to change your benefits coverage by accessing PeopleLink (www.mmcpoplelink.com). Select the Health tab and under Medical Plans or Dental Plan click any plan. Then go to Take Action in the right navigation bar and select Enroll, view, change benefits.

Other Insurances

Generally, you can make changes to after-tax benefits at any time during the plan year when not tied to a qualified family status change. In some cases, Evidence of Insurability is required before coverage becomes effective. Refer to the individual benefit plan sections for further information about adding a domestic partner.

If you are enrolled and get married or acquire a domestic partner or child during the plan year, your family members will automatically be covered under the Plan.

Identity Theft Protection Benefit Program

You can enroll for coverage for yourself and your approved domestic partner in the Identity Theft Protection Benefit Program at any time during the year. Make an initial election on Voluntary Benefits (www.mmcvoluntarybenefits.com). After this initial enrollment, you will receive a membership kit in the mail.

When to Make Changes

You may apply for domestic partner coverage within 30 calendar days of your first becoming eligible for plan coverage; within 30 calendar days of your first satisfying the domestic partner criteria; or during the Annual Enrollment period for coverage generally effective the next January 1.

Effective Date of Change

Your coverage will be effective on your first day of eligibility when you are actively at work if you are a Marsh & McLennan Companies or ELIGIBLE MMA EMPLOYEE, as long as you apply for coverage within 30 calendar days of your first becoming eligible for plan coverage; on the date you first satisfy the domestic partner criteria if you apply within 30 calendar days of becoming eligible and your medical plan permits a mid-year enrollment; or on the next January 1 if you apply during the Annual Enrollment period.

Pay-related Changes

Under current tax laws, the Company's cost for providing medical and dental coverage to domestic partners results in "imputed income" to you; you must pay tax on this income. The full cost of domestic partner coverage (both the employee and employer contributions to medical and dental coverage, and the employee's contribution to Personal Accident Insurance, Spouse Life Insurance, and Dependent Children Life Insurance) is subject to federal, Social Security (FICA) and if applicable, state and local income taxes.

Your amount of imputed income equals the full cost to cover your partner (and/or your partner's children) less your after-tax contributions to cover that person. Your dollar amount of imputed income is calculated every payroll cycle and is reflected on your payslip. It is also reported on your year-end W-2 form as a component of taxable income from the Company.

If your partner (and his or her child) qualifies as your dependent under IRC Section 152, the cost of their coverage would not be imputed as taxable income to you. You may want to review your W-4 withholding allowance and make changes if applicable.

You can get a federal W-4 form online by signing in to PeopleLink and from the right navigation bar select Payroll under Forms and Documents.

To make changes to your bank or financial institution, you need to sign in to PeopleLink (www.mmcpoplelink.com) and from the right navigation bar select My Payroll.

If you become eligible for a state premium assistance program, you will need to review and compare the benefit plans that are available to you. On this page you will find information about benefits coverage and election changes that may be helpful to you, as an eligible employee.

Changing Your Benefits

The IRS allows you to pay for certain benefits on a before-tax basis providing you with a tax savings on the cost of coverage. In return for this tax savings, the IRS restricts your ability to make changes to before-tax benefits.

Your before-tax benefit elections must remain in effect throughout the calendar year unless you have a qualified family status change that necessitates a coverage change.

About the Event

You or your dependent(s) becoming eligible for a Medicaid or CHIP state premium assistance program is considered a qualified family status change. This means if you or your dependent(s) aren't currently enrolled but are eligible for the Company's coverage, you can enroll in coverage. You may choose any option that would be available to a newly hired employee.

To enroll, you must sign in to PeopleLink (www.mmcpeoplelink.com) within 60 calendar days for medical benefits and 30 calendar days for all other benefits. If you do not enroll or add your eligible child or change/increase your coverage within the enrollment window specified, you must wait until the next Annual Enrollment period (generally each November). Any claims incurred during the timeframe in which you or your eligible child are not covered will not be eligible for reimbursement.

The Company reserves the right to ask you for proof of the qualified family status change. Failure to provide such proof within the timeframe specified may result in a loss of coverage and you may be required to pay for any services that you and your family members used while ineligible for coverage.

Death of a Spouse

If your spouse dies, you may need to review and compare the benefit plans that are available to you. In this section, you will find information about benefits coverage and election changes that may be helpful to you, as an active eligible US employee.

Changing Your Benefits

The IRS allows you to pay for certain benefits on a before-tax basis providing you with a tax savings on the cost of coverage. In return for this tax savings, the IRS restricts your ability to make changes to before-tax benefits.

Your before-tax benefit elections must remain in effect throughout the calendar year unless you have a qualified family status change that necessitates a coverage change. The change in your benefits coverage must be due to and consistent with the qualified family status change.

About the Event

The death of a spouse is considered a qualified family status change. This means that you can change certain before-tax benefits without waiting until the next Annual Enrollment period. In addition, you may be required to make certain changes to your coverage.

The Company reserves the right to ask you for proof of the qualified family status change. Failure to provide such proof within the timeframe specified may result in a loss of coverage and you may be required to pay for any services that you and your family members used while ineligible for coverage.

Impact on Benefits

You must remove your spouse from the Company benefit coverage within 30 calendar days of your spouse's death.

You should file a claim for benefits if your spouse was covered under any of these plans:

- Business Travel Accident Insurance (if your approved spouse or domestic partner was approved to accompany you while traveling on Company business or relocation trips that are paid for by the Company)
- Personal Accident Insurance (if your spouse's death was the result of an accident)
- Spouse Life Insurance
- Personal Life Insurance

If your spouse was employed, you should contact your spouse's employer to find out about any death benefits to which you may be entitled. You should also contact any private insurance companies with whom your spouse may have had insurance coverage.

You may want to review your beneficiary elections for your benefit plans.

After your spouse's death, you may be reimbursed for eligible medical, dental, health care and/or dependent care flexible spending account expenses incurred prior to your spouse's death.

You must register the qualified family status change event and make changes to your benefit plans by signing in to PeopleLink (www.mmcpeoplelink.com). You must make your change within 30 calendar days (60 calendar days of the qualified family status change for medical plan changes) of your legal separation.

Getting Married

If you get married, you may need to review and compare the benefit plans that are available to you. On this page you will find information about benefits coverage and election changes that may be helpful to you, as an eligible employee, and your new spouse (including marriage to your previously approved domestic partner).

Changing Your Benefits

The IRS allows you to pay for certain benefits on a before-tax basis providing you with a tax savings on the cost of coverage. In return for this tax savings, the IRS restricts your ability to make changes to before-tax benefits.

Your before-tax benefit elections must remain in effect throughout the calendar year unless you have a qualified family status change that necessitates a coverage change.

About the Event

Your marriage is considered a qualified family status change. This means you can change certain before-tax benefits without waiting until the next Annual Enrollment period. In addition, you may be required to make certain changes to your coverage.

The Company reserves the right to ask you for proof of the qualified family status change. Failure to provide such proof within the timeframe specified may result in a loss of coverage and you may be required to pay for any services that you and your family members used while ineligible for coverage.

Note: The benefit plans do not recognize registration of a relationship with a same gender domestic partner under state or local law as a marriage.

Impact on Benefits

You should review your beneficiary designations. Generally, for life and accident insurance plans, you can name anyone you wish as a beneficiary, including a trust or an estate, or you can name more than one beneficiary who will split the benefit.

However, for the 401(k) Savings & Investment Plan and/or Mercer HR Services Retirement Plan you have to name your spouse as your beneficiary, unless you get your spouse's written notarized consent to name someone else.

Note: Domestic partners are not treated as spouses under the tax law or for purposes of the 401(k) Savings & Investment Plan or the Mercer HR Services Retirement Plan.

However, the US Retirement Program does provide survivor benefits to qualified domestic partners. See “In Case of Your Death” in the Benefit Equalization Plan and Supplemental Retirement Plan sections of the Benefits Handbook for specific domestic partner plan details.

Your before-tax benefit elections must remain in effect throughout the calendar year unless you have a qualified family status change that necessitates a coverage change.

About the Event

Your spouse losing a job or leaving a job is considered a qualified family status change. This means that you can change certain before-tax benefits without waiting until the next Annual Enrollment period.

The Company reserves the right to ask you for proof of the qualified family status change. Failure to provide such proof within the timeframe specified may result in a loss of coverage and you may be required to pay for any services that you and your family members used while ineligible for coverage.
