Authorized Unpaid Leave of Absence

If you take an authorized unpaid leave of absence, including FMLA leave, you should review the impact of the leave on your benefit plans. If you are taking a military leave of absence, refer to “Military Leave and Your Benefits” to learn the impact of military leave on your benefit plans.

About the Event

Taking an authorized unpaid leave of absence will affect the status of some of your benefit plans.

Impact on Benefits

Impact on Benefits describes how taking an authorized leave of absence affects your benefits. Your participation in and certain service credit under many of the benefit plans can continue for up to the first 12 months of your authorized unpaid leave of absence. However, your participation in certain plans will be suspended when you start your leave.

Medical Plan

What happens to my medical coverage when I am on an authorized unpaid leave of absence?

Coverage continues with the same Company subsidy as active employees if you pay the required contributions on an after-tax basis. Medical coverage will be cancelled as a result of non-payment. (In some circumstances, COBRA medical coverage may be available.)

If you take an authorized unpaid leave of absence that is covered under the Family and Medical Leave Act, you may elect to continue your before-tax contributions to the plan by prepaying them for the period of the leave through the current plan year (otherwise, you will pay for the contributions monthly on an after-tax basis). To prepay before-tax contributions, you must authorize a lump-sum payroll deduction prior to the start of the leave.

Before-tax contributions will resume when you return to active employment.

Dental Plan

What happens to my dental coverage when I am on an authorized unpaid leave of absence?

Coverage continues with the same Company subsidy as active employees if you pay the required contributions on an after-tax basis. Dental coverage will be cancelled as a result of non-payment. (In some circumstances, COBRA dental coverage may be available.)

If you take an authorized unpaid leave of absence that is covered under the Family and Medical Leave Act, you may elect to continue your before-tax contributions to the plan by prepaying them for the period of the leave through the current plan year (otherwise, you will pay for the contributions monthly on an after-tax basis). To prepay before-tax contributions, you must authorize a lump-sum payroll deduction prior to the start of the leave.

Before-tax contributions will resume when you return to active employment.

Vision Care Plan

What happens to my vision coverage when I am on an authorized unpaid leave of absence?

Coverage continues if you pay the required contributions on an after-tax basis. Vision coverage will be cancelled as a result of non-payment. (In some circumstances, COBRA vision coverage may be available.)

If you take an authorized unpaid leave of absence that is covered under the Family and Medical Leave Act, you may elect to continue your before-tax contributions to the plan by prepaying them for the period of the leave through the current plan year (otherwise, you will pay for the contributions monthly on an after-tax basis). To prepay before-tax contributions, you must authorize a lump-sum payroll deduction prior to the start of the leave.

Health Care Flexible Spending Account and Limited Purpose Health Care Flexible Spending Account

What happens to my Health Care Flexible Spending Account and Limited Purpose Health Care Flexible Spending Account when I am on an authorized unpaid leave of absence?

Your before-tax contributions cease; your contributions must be made on an after-tax basis during the leave to receive reimbursement for expenses incurred during the leave. (In some circumstances, COBRA participation may be available.)

To prepay before-tax

contributions, you must authorize a lump-sum payroll deduction prior to the start of the leave.

If you choose not to continue your coverage during a leave covered by the Family and Medical Leave Act any expenses you incur during that leave period will not be covered by the plan. If you return from leave during the same plan year, you may choose to either keep the same annual amount and pay an increased monthly contribution amount for the remainder of the year, or to keep the same monthly contribution rate as before the leave and have a lower annual amount.

Dependent Care Flexible Spending Account

What happens to my Dependent Care Flexible Spending Account when I am on an authorized unpaid leave of absence?

Your before-tax contributions cease while you are on leave. If you return to active employment in the same calendar year, your before-tax contributions will resume.

However, your contributions to the HSA will be made on an after-tax basis. You can claim a deduction when you file your taxes. If you are enrolled in the CDHP option and want to contribute to an HSA, you must contact the Plan Administrator, Aetna, directly by calling +1 866 210 7858.

If you take an authorized unpaid leave of absence that is covered under the Family and Medical Leave Act, you may elect to continue your before-tax contributions to your account by prepaying them for the period of the leave through the current plan year (otherwise, your contributions will be adjusted automatically when you return from leave so that you reach your annual contribution amount.) To prepay before-tax contributions, you must authorize a lump sum payroll deduction prior to the start of the leave.

The deductions that will come out of your last paycheck include:

If you have other types of unused paid time off, you will be paid as shown below:

- If you have borrowed vacation days that you have not earned yet, you will have to pay the Company back for that time.
- If you leave the Company before bonuses are given out, you are not eligible for any bonus.

COBRA Coverage

COBRA continuation allows you and/or your covered family members to temporarily extend your current coverage at group rates plus an administrative fee in certain circumstances when your coverage could otherwise end.

If you or one of your covered family members is losing Company-sponsored coverage because of a qualifying event, you can elect to continue coverage in these Company-sponsored plans:

- medical
- dental
- vision
- Health Care Flexible Spending Account
- Limited Purpose Health Care Flexible Spending Account

- Employee Assistance Program (EAP)
- Best Doctors
- Health Advocate
- Alere

To continue coverage, you and/or your covered family members must be enrolled in these plans on the date of the qualifying event.

The length of time you can continue coverage depends on the type of qualifying event.

You must enroll within a specified time period to continue coverage.

Coverage continuation for domestic partners varies depending on the medical plan in which you're enrolled.

COBRA Eligibility and Enrollment

You and/or your covered family members are eligible for COBRA continuation if you are enrolled in Company-sponsored coverage and lose coverage due to a qualifying event.

Note: An event is a qualifying event only if it causes a covered family member (beneficiary) to lose coverage.

See "Continuing Coverage" in the Healthcare Participation section for further details.

Impact on Benefits

Impact on Benefits explains how leaving the Company affects your benefits.

Medical Plan

Your coverage ends on your termination date. You and your covered family members can continue your coverage through COBRA (unless you are terminated for gross misconduct) for up to 18 months by paying the full group rate, plus an additional two percent for administrative expenses.

If you are eligible to retire, in lieu of COBRA coverage you may elect retiree medical coverage. Your eligible family members can be covered until the earliest of their ceasing to be eligible or their death. If you (and your eligible family members) are enrolled in active employee medical coverage and eligible to participate in retiree medical coverage, active employee medical coverage for you and your eligible family members ends on the last day of the month in which you terminate employment. If you are eligible to participate in retiree medical coverage, you will be given an opportunity to enroll immediately following your termination of employment or defer your Marsh & McLennan Companies (Company) retiree medical coverage enrollment to some time in the future. If you defer, no immediate action is required at termination unless you wish to elect COBRA.

If you decide to elect to participate, your retiree medical coverage participation date (Retiree Medical Coverage Participation Date) will be reflected as the 1st of the month following your termination date, or if you defer your election and elect coverage at a later date, the 1st of any month, but no later than the 1st of the month following the attainment of age 65 (retiree medical coverage participation dates always are on the 1st of a month).

If you are not enrolled in active employee medical coverage at the time of your termination and you meet the retiree eligibility requirements, you are eligible to participate in retiree medical coverage. You will be given an opportunity to immediately elect or defer retiree medical coverage following your termination of employment. Since you were not enrolled in the Company's active medical coverage, you will not have the option to elect COBRA medical coverage.

Note: If you do elect COBRA for you and/or your covered spouse, when COBRA has been exhausted you can enroll yourself and/or your spouse in any applicable Company retiree medical plan option within 30 calendar days of the event. Termination of COBRA is considered a HIPAA qualifying event.

Dental Plan

Your coverage ends on your termination date. You and your covered family members can continue your coverage through COBRA (unless you are terminated for gross misconduct) for up to 18 months by paying the full group rate, plus an additional two percent for administrative expenses.

If you are eligible to participate in retiree medical coverage, not only your active employee medical, but also your active dental coverage will be continued through the end of the month in which you terminate.

If you are eligible to retire on or after September 1, 2006 you may elect to continue your coverage through COBRA regardless of whether you enrolled in retiree medical coverage.

Vision Plan

Your coverage ends on your termination date. You and your covered family members can continue your coverage through COBRA (unless you are terminated for gross misconduct) for up to 18 months by paying the full group rate, plus an additional two percent for administrative expenses.

If you are eligible to participate in retiree medical coverage, not only your active employee medical, but also your active vision care plan coverage will be continued through the end of the month in which you terminate.

Health Care Flexible Spending Account and Limited Purpose Health Care Flexible Spending Account

Your contributions end on your termination date. You can be reimbursed for eligible health care expenses that you have incurred up until your termination date (less any reimbursement amounts you have already received) up to your elected annual contribution amount.

You may also be eligible to continue your coverage through COBRA (unless you are terminated for gross misconduct) by paying your monthly contribution rate (on an after-tax basis), plus an additional two percent for administrative expenses. COBRA coverage for your Health Care Flexible Spending Account and Limited Purpose Health Care Flexible Spending Account may continue only until the end of the year in which the qualifying event occurs and may not be continued into the next year.

Dependent Care Flexible Spending Account

Your contributions end on your termination date. You can be reimbursed for eligible dependent care expenses that you have incurred up to your termination date (less any reimbursement amounts you have already received) up to your remaining contributions.

Health Savings Account

Your contributions end on your termination date. You can make contributions to your Health Savings Account on an after-tax basis directly to the Health Savings Account Administrator as long as you meet the tax requirements to contribute to a Health Savings Account.

If I terminate my employment with the Company can I continue making contributions to the Health Savings Account if I am on COBRA?

As long as you elect COBRA coverage for your Marsh & McLennan Companies Consumer Directed Health Plan or have other HIGH DEDUCTIBLE HEALTH PLAN (see the Health Savings Account section for the definition of a High Deductible Health Plan) coverage and meet the other tax requirements to contribute to the Health Savings Account, you can make contributions to your Health Savings Account on an after-tax basis directly to the Health Savings Account Administrator.

Business Travel Accident Insurance Plan

Your coverage ends on the last day you are actively at work if you are a Marsh & McLennan Companies employee or ELIGIBLE MMA EMPLOYEE.

Personal Accident Insurance Plan

Your coverage ends on the last day you are actively at work if you are a Marsh & McLennan Companies employee or ELIGIBLE MMA EMPLOYEE.

You can convert your Personal Accident Insurance coverage to an individual plan at standard insurance company rates by applying and making the premium payments to the insurance company within 30 calendar days of the date your coverage ends (unless you retire).

Retired employees are eligible for $10,000 in coverage up to a maximum of $50,000, in multiples of $10,000 in either individual or family coverage. The amount selected cannot exceed that which the retired employee had as an active employee. At age 75, the amount reduces to $10,000, for both the retired employee and covered family members. This reduction in benefit takes into consideration the increased cost in providing coverage at and after age 70. If a retired employee and spouse are both eligible as retired employees, only one may enroll the children in coverage.

Life Insurance Plans

Coverage ends on your termination date. When your coverage ends for Basic Life Insurance, Optional Life Insurance, Spouse Life Insurance and Dependent Children Life Insurance, you can apply for an individual policy.

You have 31 days from your termination date to apply for and pay the required premium for an individual policy. In no event will the conversion period extend beyond 91 days (for Optional Life Insurance, the portability period will not extend beyond 90 days) from the date coverage ends.

If you are eligible to retire, are a past retiree, or if you retired from an acquired company, refer to the respective Life Insurance Plan Summary Plan Descriptions for the amount of life insurance to which you are eligible, if any. (Note: if you are a past retiree or if you retired from an acquired company, the letter provided to you when you retired should specify the amount of life insurance to which you are eligible as a retired employee, if any.)

You may continue your Optional Life Insurance on a group basis instead of converting to an individual policy if permitted in your state of residence under the plan's portability feature. The cost of coverage is higher than employee contributions, but may be lower than a comparable individual policy.

Your payroll contributions end on your termination date.

You can keep your Personal Life Insurance coverage if you leave the Company for any reason, including retirement. When you leave employment, your coverage will continue at your same guaranteed rate. Contact the plan's insurer to make arrangements to pay premiums directly. When employment ends, the Company subsidy of 26% of premium ends. You will be billed by MetLife for the entire premium amount.

US Retirement Program

Benefit accruals stop at the end of the month in which you terminate employment.

If you are a vested participant, under age 55, you are eligible for a deferred vested benefit payable as early as age 55.

If you are a vested participant age 55 or over when you terminate employment, you are eligible to commence your benefit immediately.

Transportation Reimbursement Incentive Program (TRIP)

After your employment ends, your elections will automatically be cancelled for future months. If you missed the deadline for canceling your pass—and you terminate employment before the start of the following month—you can either return the pass for that month to the transit authority for a refund (if the transit authority allows) or use the pass. Note, however, that you are responsible for the cost of the pass and you may be liable for taxes on the value of the pass. You may wish to consult with a tax professional for details.

You will not be entitled to reimbursement for any expenses incurred after you leave the Company. Any unused amounts set aside in your account for which you do not properly request reimbursement for qualified expenses within 180 days of your termination date will be forfeited. As a result, if the deadline for changing or canceling your election has not yet passed by the time you realize that you will be leaving the Company, you should change your election to avoid incurring an excess deduction and possibly losing money because of a forfeiture. Refer to the individual benefit plan sections for further details or call the Employee Service Center at +1 866 374 2662.

You can convert your Legal Assistance Plan coverage to an individual plan for a 30 month obligatory period (you cannot reduce or opt out of the 30 month conversion period) after your coverage ends by contacting the Claims Administrator and making the required payment within 31 calendar days of your coverage end date. Any case that is open and pending when coverage ends will be covered to completion.

Identity Theft Protection Benefit Plan

Upon leaving the Company, you will automatically be converted to a direct bill payment option for your coverage. If you choose to continue coverage on a group basis, post-employment rates are not higher than employee rates.

Employee Assistance Program

Coverage ends on your termination date. If you are in treatment your coverage will continue for 30 calendar days. If you need to continue treatment, you can continue your coverage through COBRA.

If you are eligible to participate in retiree medical coverage, not only your active employee medical, but also your active EAP coverage will be continued through the end of the month in which you terminate.

You and your covered family members can continue your coverage through COBRA (unless you are terminated for gross misconduct) for up to 18 months by paying the full group rate, plus an additional two percent for administrative expenses.

Best Doctors

Qualifying Event—Termination of Employment COBRA Due to Termination

COBRA coverage is available for up to 18 months if your employment ends for any reason, unless you lost your job because of gross misconduct. COBRA coverage can be extended if there is a second qualifying event during the COBRA continuation period.

Disabled at Termination

If you are disabled according to the Social Security Administration when you leave the Company or become disabled according to the Social Security Administration within the 60 calendar day COBRA election period, you and your covered family members can extend your COBRA coverage for an additional 11 months, for a total of 29 months from termination.

Note that your premiums are increased to 150% of the full group rate for those additional 11 months from the beginning of the 19th month through the end of the 29th month.

If a second qualifying event occurs within the first 18 months of the COBRA coverage, you pay the full group rate on an after-tax basis plus an additional two percent for administrative expenses from the beginning of the 19th month through the end of the 36th month. If a second qualifying event occurs within the 19th through 29th month of COBRA coverage extended for disability, your premiums will be increased by an additional 50 percent through the end of the 36th month.

Family or Medical Leave of Absence under FMLA

Taking a family or medical leave of absence under the Family and Medical Leave Act (FMLA) usually will not constitute a qualifying event. A qualifying event occurs, however, if: 1) you do not return to employment with the Company after the end of the FMLA leave, and 2) without COBRA coverage, you or your covered family member would lose coverage before the end of the maximum coverage period.

Absence Due to Military Service

Unless you have lost coverage at some point during the next 18 months, your absence from employment because of military service is not a qualifying event under COBRA; however, you may elect to continue existing coverage for up to 24 months under the Uniformed Services Employment and Reemployment Rights Act (USERRA). For an absence of more than 30 days, you are not required to pay more than 102% of the full group rate. However, if your leave of absence is less than 31 days, you may not lose your coverage and will not have to pay more than the active employee contribution.

COBRA Notification

When will I be notified about COBRA eligibility after my coverage ends because my employment terminates?

The Company has 30 calendar days to notify its COBRA Administrator of your termination of employment. You and your covered family members will be sent written notification of your COBRA eligibility within 14 days of the date the Company's COBRA Administrator has been notified of your termination of employment.

If you were terminated because of gross misconduct, neither you nor your covered family members will be eligible for COBRA.

Other Things to Think About

The Company will reimburse you for any valid and substantiated expenses you had before you left the Company.

Newly Hired or Rehired Employee

Below you will find some benefits information that will help you with the transition to your new job. Refer to the individual benefit plan sections for further details.

Getting Paid

When you are hired, you should fill out a W-4 form and a state tax withholding form if your state requires it. If you don't fill out a tax withholding form, your filing status will default to:

- single with zero withholding allowances for federal
- single with zero withholding allowances for state.

This will cause you to be taxed at the highest possible rate.

| | When paid | Time period | Number of pay days per year |
|----------------------------------|---|---|------------------------------------|
| US salaried, semi-monthly | Twice a month, generally on the last business day of each payroll period (payroll periods start on the 1 st and 16 th of the month) | One-half of the month | 24 |
| US salaried, weekly | Every week, generally every Friday for the prior week | Every week of the month | 52 |
| US weekly (paid hourly) | Every week, generally every Friday for the prior week's hours-worked | Every week that hours are submitted by the employee | 52 |

Under the direct deposit program, you may have your pay deposited to multiple bank accounts, as you designate. This policy applies to you if you are:

- a Marsh & McLennan Companies employee classified on payroll as a US salaried employee of Marsh & McLennan Companies or any subsidiary or affiliate of Marsh & McLennan Companies.

Tax Equalization

Marsh & McLennan Companies offers active US employees in same-sex domestic partnerships federal and state tax equalization to offset the additional taxes paid on medical, dental and vision coverage for their same-sex domestic partners and if applicable, the partner's eligible children.

Marsh & McLennan Companies offers active US employees in same-sex marriages state tax equalization to offset the additional taxes paid on medical, dental and vision coverage for their same-sex spouses and if applicable, the spouse's eligible children.

Who is eligible for tax equalization?

You are eligible for tax equalization if you are an active US employee:

- in a same-sex marriage, in a state where same-sex marriage is legally recognized,
- in a same-sex domestic partnership, or civil union in a state where same-sex marriage is not currently recognized.

Employees who have the legal option to marry in the state in which they reside are not eligible if they choose not to marry.

How is tax equalization to be paid?

Eligible employees will receive the applicable tax equalization in each of their paychecks.

Will the salaries be changed to reflect the tax equalization?

No. As with other gross-up issues, salaries will not change.

How do I elect tax equalization?

- If you qualify for tax equalization, your federal taxes will be automatically adjusted.

Rehired by the Company

Rehired Within 30 Calendar Days of Your Termination Date in the Same Calendar Year

If you are rehired within 30 calendar days of your termination date in the same calendar year, all pre-tax benefit elections are reinstated automatically at prior coverage levels and contribution amounts, provided you previously met the full waiting period. You must make new post-tax benefit elections within 30 calendar days of rehire. Prior coverage levels for the Life Insurance and Disability Plans will be approved without satisfying evidence of insurability (EOI) requirements, provided you previously met the full waiting period. Prior days of service will not count toward the waiting period.

Rehired Within 30 Calendar Days of Your Termination Date in a Different Calendar Year

If you are rehired within 30 calendar days of your termination date in a different calendar year, you must make new pre-tax and post-tax benefit elections within 30 calendar days of rehire. Prior coverage levels for the Life Insurance and Disability Plans will be approved without satisfying EOI requirements, provided you previously met the full waiting period. Prior days of service will not count toward the waiting period.

Rehired After 30 Calendar Days from Your Termination Date in the Same or Different Calendar Year

If you are rehired after 30 calendar days from your termination date within the same or different calendar year, you must make new pre-tax and post-tax benefit elections within 30 calendar days of rehire. You will be treated as a “new hire” for purposes of satisfying EOI requirements for the Life Insurance and Disability Plans. Prior coverage levels and contribution amounts will not be reinstated. You must meet the full waiting period before coverage is effective, even if you previously met it in full. Prior days of service will not count toward the waiting period.

Note: In all cases if you did not meet the full waiting period prior to termination, you must satisfy the new waiting period starting from your rehire date. You must make new pre-tax and post-tax benefit elections within 30 calendar days of rehire. You will be treated as a “new hire” for purposes of satisfying EOI requirements for the Life Insurance and Disability Plans. Prior coverage levels and contribution amounts will not be reinstated. Prior days of service will not count toward the waiting period.

Enrollment for the Legal Assistance Plan can only occur within 30 calendar days of your eligibility date or during Annual Enrollment.

If you are rehired within three months of your termination of employment, the Company does not treat this as a termination of employment. If you have taken a distribution from your Marsh & McLennan Companies 401(k) Savings & Investment Plan, MMA 401(k) Savings & Investment Plan, Supplemental Savings & Investment Plan, or Employee Stock Purchase Plan, or begun payments from the US Retirement Program, the distributions or payments will need to be paid back to the plan.

If a retiree is rehired as a regular employee after at least a three-month break in service, any retirement benefits will cease for the duration of his or her reemployment.

What happens if you are eligible for retiree medical coverage, terminate and are later rehired as a regular employee?

Retired/Terminated Post-3/31/2010

If you are eligible for retiree medical coverage, terminate and are later rehired as a regular employee, you will retain your eligibility to immediately elect or defer participation in retiree medical coverage when you terminate again from the Company.

If you elected retiree medical coverage prior to rehire, your retiree medical coverage is suspended upon rehire. When you subsequently terminate, you:

- will automatically resume your previous coverage, or
- you can make a new election upon termination (plan choice or adding eligible family members).

If you decide to cancel your retiree medical coverage, you will not have the opportunity to re-enroll at a later date.

If you were eligible for the Company-subsidized retiree medical coverage when you terminated, and

- you are still covered on the date you are rehired, your Company retiree medical coverage will be suspended upon rehire, but you will retain your eligibility for the Company-subsidized retiree medical coverage when you subsequently terminate from the Company. Upon rehire, you once again accrue eligibility service towards the Company-subsidy, potentially resulting in a lower premium due to a greater subsidy amount upon your subsequent termination.

- you did not elect the coverage, you will retain your eligibility to immediately elect or defer participation in retiree medical coverage and eligibility for the Company-subsidized retiree medical coverage when you subsequently terminate from the Company. Upon rehire, you once again accrue eligibility service towards the Company-subsidy, potentially resulting in a lower premium due to a greater subsidy amount upon your subsequent termination.
- you dropped the coverage prior to the date you are rehired, you will be eligible to immediately elect or defer participation in retiree medical coverage, but you will not retain your eligibility for the Company-subsidized retiree medical coverage when you subsequently terminate from the Company.

If you were eligible for the unsubsidized retiree medical coverage when you terminated, you will retain your eligibility for the unsubsidized retiree medical coverage when you subsequently terminate from the Company.

If you were not eligible for retiree medical coverage when you terminated, you will not be eligible for the Company-subsidized retiree medical coverage upon rehire. However, upon rehire, you will accrue service towards the eligibility for unsubsidized retiree medical coverage (prior service and new service will be used to determine eligibility). If you meet the retiree medical coverage eligibility requirements at the time of your subsequent termination, you will be eligible to participate in unsubsidized retiree medical coverage.

Retired/Terminated Pre-4/1/2010

If you are eligible for retiree medical coverage, terminate and are later rehired as a regular employee, you will retain your eligibility for retiree medical coverage when you terminate again from the Company as long as you meet the eligibility requirements applicable to you at the time of your subsequent termination.

If you were eligible for the Company-subsidized retiree medical coverage when you terminated, and

- you are still covered on the date you are rehired, your Company retiree medical coverage will be suspended upon rehire, but you will retain your eligibility for the Company-subsidized retiree medical coverage when you subsequently terminate from the Company.
- you dropped the coverage prior to the date you are rehired or did not elect the coverage, you will not retain your eligibility for the Company-subsidized retiree medical coverage when you subsequently terminate from the Company. However, you will be eligible to participate in unsubsidized retiree medical coverage and, if this coverage is elected, you will pay the full monthly cost for coverage based on the current Company Retiree Medical Plan's group rates in effect.

If you were eligible for the unsubsidized retiree medical coverage when you terminated, you will retain your eligibility for the unsubsidized retiree medical coverage when you subsequently terminate from the Company.

What happens if you are eligible for Company-subsidized retiree medical coverage, terminate and are later rehired as a regular employee?

Retired/Terminated Post-3/31/2010

If you were eligible for the Company-subsidized retiree medical coverage when you terminated, and you are still covered on the date you are rehired, your Company retiree medical coverage will be suspended upon rehire, but you will retain your eligibility for the Company-subsidized retiree medical coverage when you subsequently terminate from the Company. Upon rehire, you once again accrue eligibility service towards the Company-subsidy potentially resulting in a lower premium due to a greater subsidy amount upon your subsequent termination.

Retired/Terminated Pre-4/1/2010

If you are eligible for Company-subsidized retiree medical coverage, terminate (but are not retirement eligible) and are later rehired as a regular employee, you will not be eligible for Company-subsidized retiree medical coverage when you subsequently terminate from the Company. However, you will be eligible to participate in unsubsidized retiree medical coverage as long as you meet the eligibility requirements applicable to you at the time of your subsequent termination, and, if this coverage is elected, you will pay the full monthly cost for coverage based on the current Company Retiree Medical Plan's group rates in effect.

What happens if you are eligible for retiree medical coverage, terminate and are later rehired as a temporary employee?

Retired/Terminated Post-3/31/2010

If you are eligible for retiree medical coverage, terminate, elect Company retiree medical coverage, are later rehired as a temporary employee and are still covered on the date you are rehired:

- your Company Pre-65 retiree medical coverage will continue as long as you pay the required premiums.
- your Company Post-65 retiree medical coverage will automatically be suspended until such time you subsequently terminate your employment.

If you are eligible for retiree medical coverage, terminate, are later rehired as a temporary employee and you did not elect Company retiree medical coverage prior to the date you are rehired, you will be eligible for unsubsidized retiree medical coverage at the time of your subsequent termination of employment.

If you are eligible for retiree medical coverage, terminate, are later rehired as a temporary employee and you dropped your retiree medical coverage prior to the date you are rehired, you will be eligible for unsubsidized retiree medical coverage if you meet the eligibility requirements applicable to you at the time of your subsequent termination of employment.

Retired/Terminated Pre-4/1/2010

If you are eligible for retiree medical coverage, terminate, elect Company retiree medical coverage, are later rehired as a temporary employee and are still covered on the date you are rehired:

- your Company Pre-65 retiree medical coverage will continue as long as you pay the required premiums.
- your Company Post-65 retiree medical coverage will automatically be suspended until such time you subsequently terminate your employment.

If you are eligible for retiree medical coverage, terminate, are later rehired as a temporary employee and either did not elect Company retiree medical coverage or dropped the coverage prior to the date you are rehired, you will be eligible for unsubsidized retiree medical coverage if you meet the eligibility requirements applicable to you at the time of your subsequent termination of employment.

Enrollment in Before-Tax Benefits

The IRS allows you to pay for certain benefits on a before-tax basis providing you with a tax savings on the cost of coverage. In return for this tax savings, the IRS restricts your ability to make changes to before-tax benefits.

Your before-tax benefit elections must remain in effect throughout the calendar year unless you have a qualified family status change that necessitates a coverage change. The change in your benefits coverage must be due to and consistent with the qualified family status change.

You must enroll in the before-tax benefit plans within 30 calendar days of your eligibility date or you will not be covered by any of the before-tax plans for the remainder of the calendar year. If you don't enroll within 30 calendar days of your eligibility date, you will not be able to elect coverage (unless you experience a qualified family status change that allows you to enroll) until the next benefits Annual Enrollment period.

The before-tax benefit plans are:

- Medical
- Dental
- Vision
- Flexible Spending Accounts (health care, limited purpose health care and dependent care)
- Personal Accident Insurance

Although HSA contributions are on a before-tax basis, they are not subject to the qualified family status change rules. You may change your before-tax HSA contributions every month even if you do not have a qualified family status change.

If you qualify for federal tax equalization for your same-sex domestic partner or spouse, your federal taxes will be automatically adjusted. If you are eligible, you will receive a federal tax equalization adjustment to offset the additional taxes paid on medical, dental and vision coverage for your same-sex domestic partner or same-sex spouse and if applicable, your partner's or spouse's eligible children.

Contact

If you are no longer in your medical and/or dental plans' service area, you must register your relocation. Sign in to PeopleLink (www.mmcpoplelink.com), from the right navigation bar select My Benefits and click ibenefitcenter. You must make your change within 30 calendar days of your relocation.

Relocation

Below you will find some benefits information that will help you with your transition. Refer to the individual benefit plan sections for further details.

Changing Your Benefits

The IRS allows you to pay for certain benefits on a before-tax basis providing you with a tax savings on the cost of coverage. In return for this tax savings, the IRS restricts your ability to make changes to be-fore-tax benefits.

Your before-tax benefit elections must remain in effect throughout the calendar year unless you have a qualified family status change that necessitates a coverage change. The change in your benefits coverage must be due to and consistent with the qualified family status change.

About the Event

You can make updates to personal information such as your home address by accessing PeopleLink's Employee Self Service and clicking on the My Personal Information link.

Keep your home address current to be sure you continue to receive all Company mailings. Generally, moving will not affect most Company benefits, like your life insurance and retirement plans, unless you transfer to another subsidiary that does not participate in the plans.

Your move may affect your Company benefits that are geographically based, like your medical plan. If you move out of the plan service area, you will need to choose a new plan.

You will be notified if your move will affect your medical and/or dental plans and if you need to make any changes.

You must make allowable changes within 30 calendar days from the date of your move.

Pay-related information

To make changes to your bank or financial institution, you need to sign in to PeopleLink (www.mmcpeoplelink.com) and from the right navigation bar select My Payroll.

If you are moving to a new state, you may be subject to a different income tax rate. You may want to review your tax withholding and complete a new W-4 form to make changes. You can get a federal W-4 form online by signing in to PeopleLink and from the right navigation bar select Payroll under Forms and Documents.

Relocation Assistance

If you are transferring to a new work location at the request of the Company, you may be eligible for relocation assistance.

Employee Assistance Program (EAP)

With the constant demands we face each day, it can sometimes be difficult to balance our work and home lives. If you are struggling with a personal concern, crisis or even an every day issue, the EAP can be an invaluable resource.

Contact

If you are no longer in your medical and/or dental plans' service area, you must register your relocation by signing in to PeopleLink (www.mmcpeoplelink.com). Select the Health tab and under Medical Plans or Dental Plan click the applicable plan. Then go to Take Action in the right navigation bar and select Enroll, view, change benefits. You must make your change within 30 calendar days of your relocation.

Transfers

How are health & welfare benefits impacted if you transfer among different participating Companies?

If there is no break in service, your date of hire (the date your active work status began/the first day you are actively at work) will be used to calculate the waiting period (if required) and your benefits eligibility date under the new operating company.
