How the Plan Works

You may purchase coverage for yourself and you may also elect to cover your spouse (or approved domestic partner) and dependent children under this program.

Additional Plan Features

- once your policy is issued, the rates will remain the same.
- the policy is owned by you and is completely portable.
- the cash value accumulates at a guaranteed rate of 4%. Plus, should the need arise, you can take a loan from your policy's cash value.

What is the difference between Personal Life and other Group Life Insurance?

Both Personal Life and Group Life Insurance provide life insurance protection.

The main differences are:

- Personal Life Insurance is a whole life insurance policy; you own the policy outright. Premiums will remain level and will never change unless you change your coverage amount.
- Group Life Insurance is term insurance, which means that the Company owns the policy and you are only covered while employed with the Company.

If I am on an authorized unpaid leave of absence, does the Plan still provide a benefit?

If the Company grants you an authorized unpaid leave of absence, you may continue coverage for the duration of your authorized period of leave. It is your responsibility to pay any employee contributions due.

If I am disabled, does the Plan still provide a benefit?

Your coverage is portable and will remain in effect as long as you continue to pay premiums. If you are no longer eligible for payroll deductions, premium notices will be sent directly to your home.

If I die?

If you die, your BENEFICIARY needs to file a claim. If you do not name a beneficiary, or if your beneficiary is not alive when you die, the benefit will go to your estate.

How Benefits Are Paid

The beneficiary will be provided full details on the account when the benefit becomes payable.

Cash Values and Dividends

What is the benefit of the cash value?

There are several benefits:

- whole life insurance provides a guaranteed cash value that grows on a tax-deferred basis.
