The Program Specialist

For instance, if you need child care, you will speak with a specialist who has education and training in the child care field; while members seeking assistance with elder care will speak to trained and educated specialists who have experience and training in social work and gerontology, for example.

These specialists are accessible 24/7/365 to provide expert guidance, relevant information and personalized referrals to providers that meet your unique needs—in terms of care, budget, location and any special request. The specialist will help you evaluate your situation, research and explain the options in your community and send you relevant materials and referrals.

The program aims to give you information you can use to evaluate providers and determine which one, if any, is best for you. The choice of services is always yours.

Referrals

When discussing potential providers with you, the specialist will give you information on care providers; operating hours; fees and subsidies; licensing; accreditations (if any); and policies for individuals with special needs.

Referrals can be relayed via phone and conveniently posted to an area of the website personalized for each employee. Information and referrals can also be e-mailed.

The Company hopes that this benefit will help you to manage work and family responsibilities and save time and money with personal life needs. It is important to remember, however, that the Family Resource Program provides referrals and not recommendations. You are responsible for selecting the services that best suit your needs. You pay any costs associated with the services you choose.

Neither the Company nor the Family Resource Program guarantees the quality of providers. The program aims to give you information you can use to evaluate providers and determine which one, if any, is best for you. The choice of services is always yours.
